BUILDERS POUND OUT VICTORY IN LAST BOX

Newport News, Va., May 29 .- Efird pitched brilliantly until the ninth in-ning to-day, but the Builders batted him hard and overcame Roanoke's lead him hard and overcame Roanoke's lead of two runs, and won, 4 to 3. Pooray was very effective, until he made way for Manager Matthews, who tied the score in the eighth with a sacrifice fly. Buck Barton pitched the ninth, and a pass, a wild throw and a single gave the Tigers two runs. Walters opened the last half of the ninth with a single, and Smith put him at third with a double to left. Meixell and Gondolfi were easy, but Carnes tripled to right, tying the score, and Glockson broke up the game on Effed's first pitched ball with a terrific grounder past Graham. The score:

The above is just one of a number of similar telegrams that have been resimilar telegrams that have been received at this office and by the promoters, all seeking either to obtain the world's championship wrestling match, to be put on here Tuesday night between Zbyszko and Roller, or to get the winner of that match to meet some local favorite in another finish engagement. In justice and in praise of the local promoters, be it said they slipped one over on the wise lads up North. Just as soon as they found that there was a possibility of getting the American champion and the world's champion together, they cinched the match for Richmond, digging deep in their pockets to bring forth the necessary number of iron men to satisfy the apnumber of iron men to satisfy the appurishment of the control of the cont pockets to bring forth the necessary number of iron men to satisfy the appetites of the combatants.

I have been asked frequently just why such a big match should be pulled off in Richmond, when there are a number of other cities so much larger than Richmond that would want a champion-ship battle between these two glank. If I wanted to be nasty about it, I might reply that there were a number of larger cities after the regional bank when fichmond started her flight for the big financial institution, yet Richmond won. The combination that brought about victory in the regional bank fight has brought title greatest of all westling matches here. This combination is brains, industry, pluck and never, nerve expressed in confidence in the people of Richmond. And I, for one, aim willing to doff my hat to they young men who took a gambler's chance, brought the match here, with nothing between them and a considerable financial loss but implicit faith the Richmond public, assuming that it would support an attraction of this calibre.

Many inquiries have come to my desk seeking information as to where and how tickets may be obtained. Up to the present time all of these inquiries have been answered, but it is a considerable drain on my time, and so I am using this column to once more give definite information to the out of-town fans. A letter addressed to McCoy's, Broad and Eighth Stress, Richmond, Va., and centaining a money order for the amount of tickets wanted, will be henored, and will receive careful attention. Checks will not be honored. The prices range from 50 cents for general admission to $2 for ringside seats. In the fature I will be unable to answer letters, but the above instructions, if followed, will bring tickets to those desiring them.

out in the course of a conversation, in which the great strength of the Pole was exploited by yours truly. Said the doctor: "That fellow is unquestionably the strongest man in the world. I know, for I have felt his powerful arms around me. Let him get his favorite hold, which is nothing more or less than pitting his wonderful pair of arms against all the science that his opponent can introduce, and it will take a saw to get loose. His armhold just can't be broken. However, I believe that I will be able to keep him from locking those great, massive tenacles around me. Just now I am very tirmly of the opinion that I will set the pace. If I can get the jump set the pace. If I can get the jump on this fellow and keep him on the defensive, I think that I can wear him down. I look for a long and gruelling battle, but I am going to win. "Wrestling Zbyszko is different from wrestling any man in the world, not even the mighty Gotch being excepted. Gotch is streag but he fail.
